

QUACKY DUCKS

Long ago, when the cosmos was nothing but a void, there lay the Infinite Duck, drifting in emptiness...

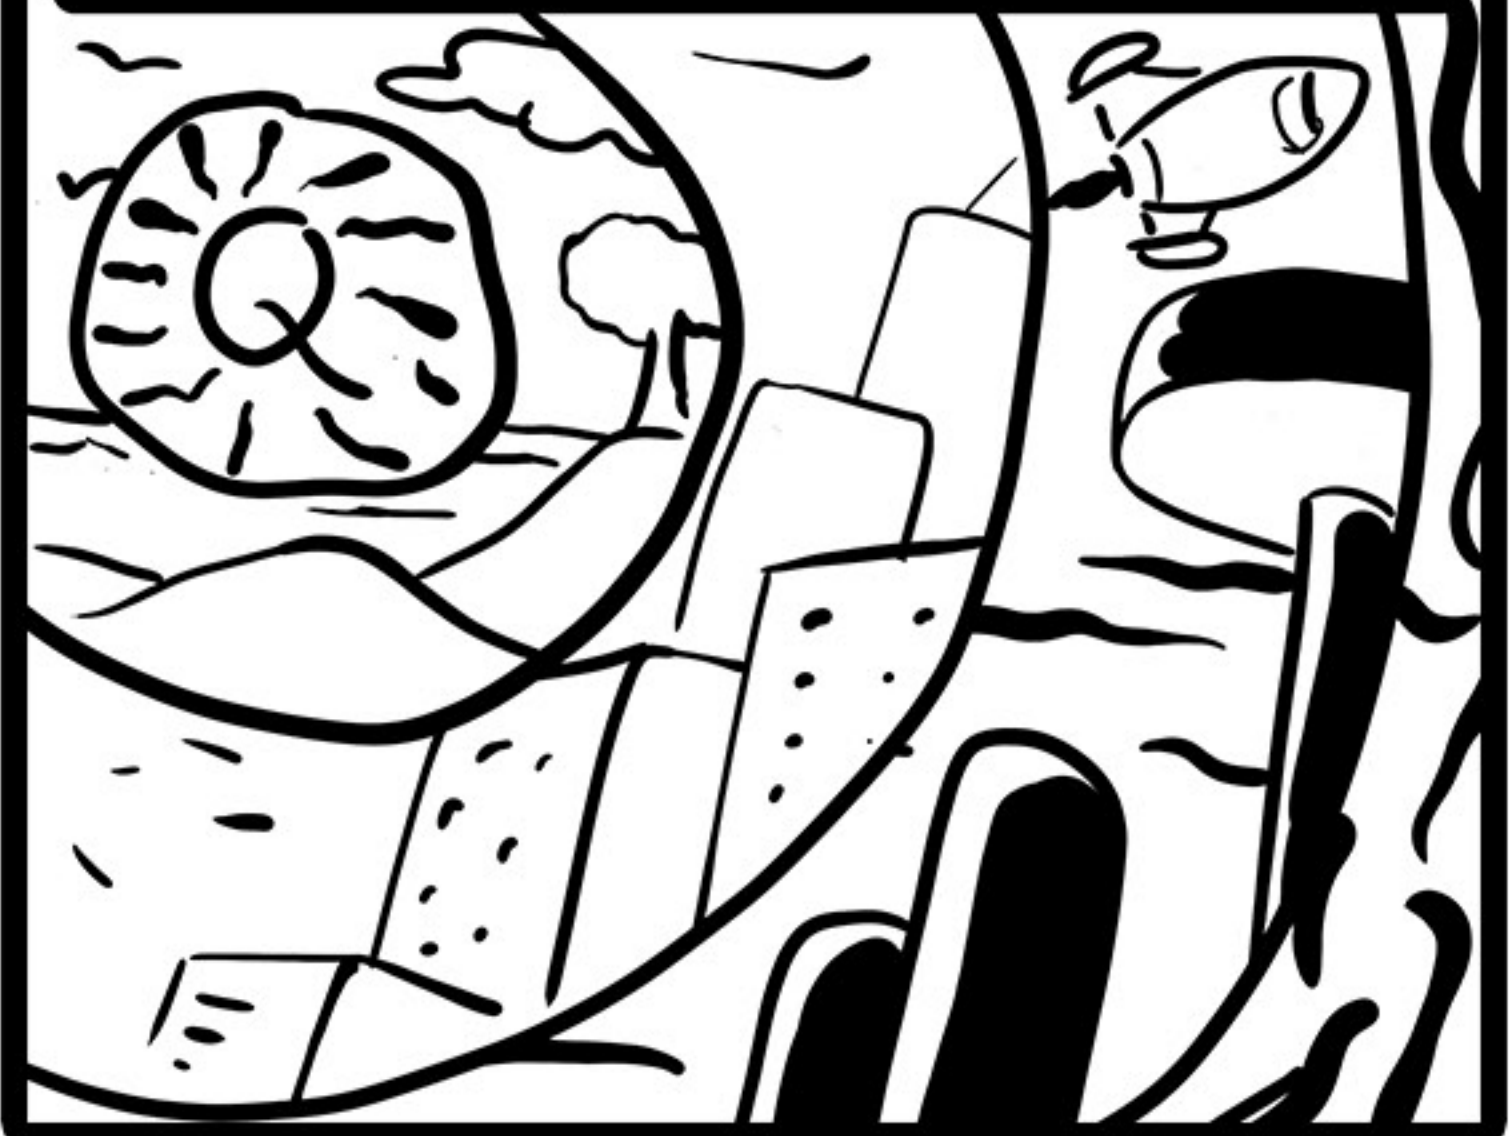

It was chill... but the vast, empty darkness eventually made the Infinite duck go mad with an inventive urge!

He let out a Great Quack, which resounded into the void with pure creative energy.

Quack.

Worlds upon worlds burst into existence, each more beautiful than the other. Behold... The Quackyverse was born!

The Infinite Duck witnessed his newborn creation, but it did not bear the fruit that he intended.

He felt the need to give life to new inhabitants in his own image, and to spread them over the Quackyverse.

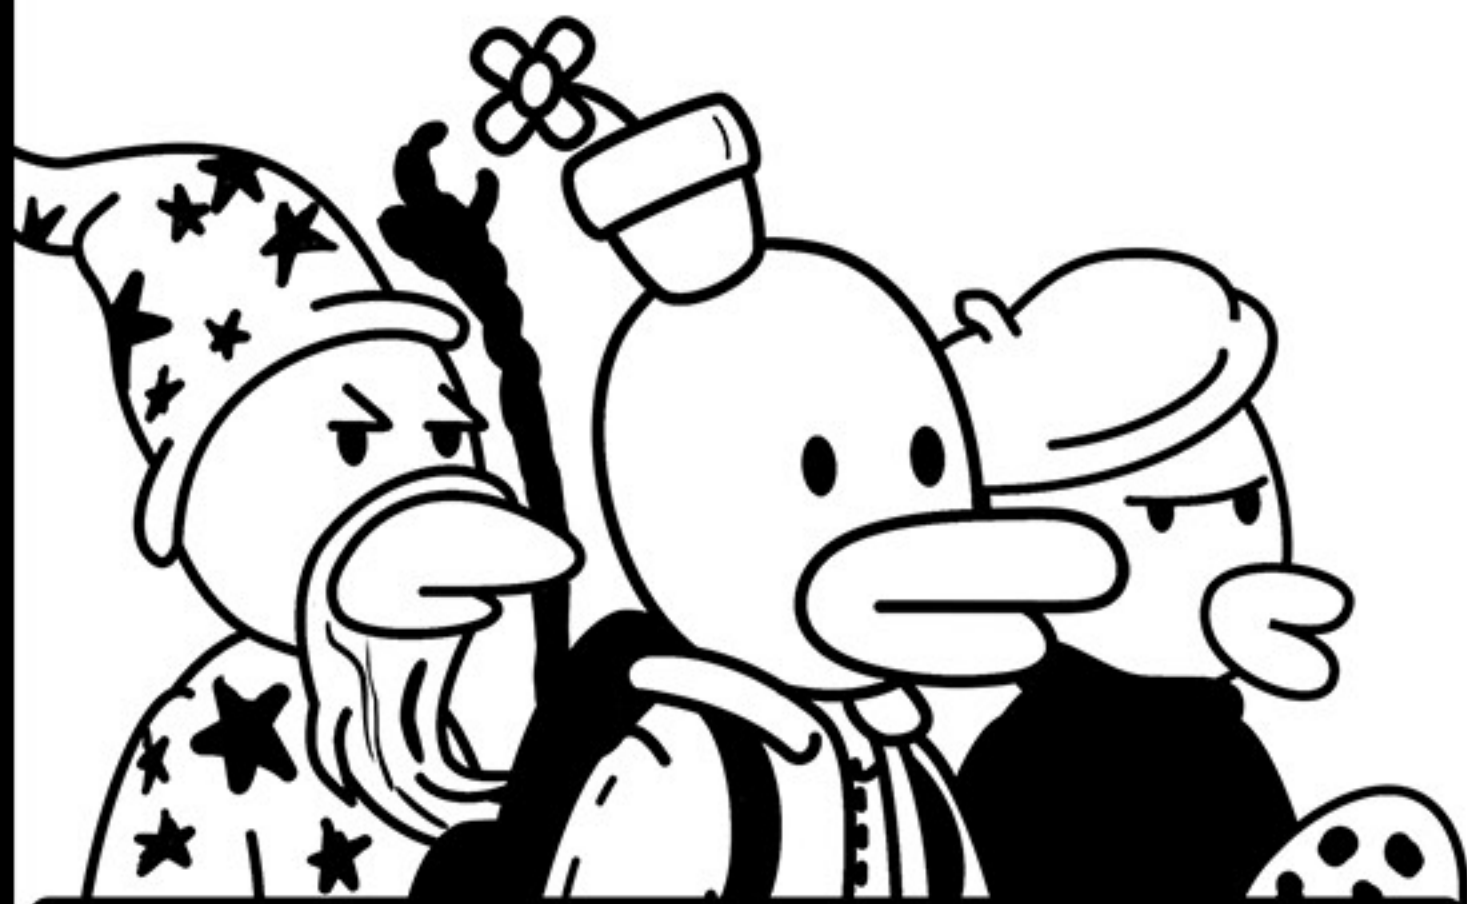

So he did something only a true quackster would do: He into 8,888 pieces!

EXPLODED

These pieces scattered across the worlds, molding into creation the QUACKY DUCKS -

... cheeky, wild creatures that are always up to no good!

Each Quacky Duck is unique, and no two are the same. What unites them is the divine drive to come together...

... forming a universal community to share ideas and be the cheeky fckers that they are.